DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 14-27 and 31-22 of copending Application No. 10/468633. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claimed subject matter of the instant application substantially overlaps in scope with the subject matter of the references application in that both application claims substantially identical/overlapping prepolymers having identical alkoxysilane terminated groups, and claiming hydrocarbon blowing agent as the only species in the instant application and one possible species of the referenced application as, for example, per claim 17 of the referenced application, thus making the choice of the claimed blowing agents clearly envisaged from the group of blowing agents claimed in claim 17 of the referenced application.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 10-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(c) as being anticipated by WO 02/066532 to CONSORTIUM FUR ELEKTROCHEM IND, (hereinafter "Consortium") (of record, a US counterpart application 2004072921 is used as an English language equivalent of Consortium for specific references and examples) in combination with either US Patent 5,512,319 to Cook et al., (hereinafter "Cook"), or US Patent 3,730,822 to Lowell (hereinafter "Lowell").

Consortium discloses foamable compositions comprising isocyanate-free, alkoxy silane-terminated prepolymer, having silane end groups of the formula fully corresponding to the compound of the claimed formula [2] or prepolymer corresponding to formula [3], and (B) a blowing agent. See, for example, abstract and claims of US PGPub 2004072921. The reference further expressly discloses isocyanate-free composition based on those compounds. Among suitable blowing agents (B) hydrocarbons having 1-5 carbon atoms are expressly disclosed in claim 3 and [0032] as one possible blowing agents species in a group of only tree species (that also includes dimethyl ether), and their mixtures, which makes the claimed hydrocarbon blowing agents clearly envisaged from the genus of only three species, as well as the mixture of two out of three species is also clearly envisages from the disclosure of [0032]. The reference further expressly discloses .a pressure vessel containing the foamable composition containing components A and B.

The comparative examples are noted, however, they are irrelevant to the anticipatory rejection under 35 USC 102, claiming mixture comprising the two claimed components.
